CHUMPHON

Chumphon province is located in the most upper part of the southern region. It is known as the gateway to the southern border towns. The province is administratively divided into 8 Amphoes (districts) : Mueang Chumphon, Lamae, Lang Suan, Pathio, Phato, Sawi, Tha Sae and Thung Tako. Chumphon has been able to maintain plenty of natural resources for tourism which have been untouched by tourists and unspoiled by time. Chumphon is an elongated province with 220 kms. of coastline offering many fine-sandy beaches and attractive offshore islands, with plenty of opportunities for sunbathing, swimming, yachting, paragliding, diving and snorkelling.

ATTRACTIONS

Tourist Attractions in Amphoe Mueang Chumphon

Prince of Chumphon' s Shrine (ศาลเจ้าพ่อกรมหลวงชุมพร)

This place is in Mu 7 Tambon Hat Sai Ri. It is 20 kms. from Chumphon city center, along the Highways 4119 and 4098. This is a sacred place for the people in Chumphon and nearby provinces.

At the place stands the Monument of Admiral Phra Borommawong the Kromluang Chumphon Khet Udomsak. The shrine is on the north side of Hat Sai Ri facing toward the sea. There is a museum which exhibits about his biography and things which he used. A large torpedo-ship named HMS Chumphon is also here. It is 68 metres long and 6.55 metres wide. This ship was decommissioned on 26 November, 1975. The Royal Thai Navy turned over the ship to Chumphon province in 1979. After that, it was placed near this monument for his commemoration.

*Shrine of H.R.H.
Prince Chumphon*

"HMS Chumphon" Torpedo Ship at Hat Sai Ri

Hat Sai Ri (หาดทรายรี) About 20 kms. along Highways 4119 and 4098 with regular bus services from the town centre, this long smooth white sandy and extensive beach is shaded by majestic pine trees and affords some spectacular views of nearby islands.

With its quaint, spicy but delicious somtam stalls and outdoor seafood restaurants, Hat Sai Ri offers peace and relaxation away from the maddening crowd. For historical interest, a monument commemorating the late Admiral Prince of Chumphon is located nearby, complete with a well-preserved WW II warship. A hillside temple at the site offers a panoramic view of the entire area.

Khao Chao Mueang (เขาเจ้าเมือง) About 2.4 kms. from Hat Sai Ri is Khao Chao Mueang, The district's highest observation point offering panoramic views of the coast and far out into the distant archipelago are rivalled only by the peace and tranquility offered by the secluded beach located at the base of the mountain.

Ao Thung Makham

Ao Thung Makham (อ่าวทุ่งมะขาม) This place is divided into the outer Ao Thung Makham and inner Ao Thung Makham. The bays look like a line of 2 semi circles. Roughly in the middle, lies a peninsula made up of large and small rocks scattered around in a mysterious fashion. This peninsula serves as the bays divider. On the north side lies the inner Ao Thung Makham whose white sandy beach stretches along with a line of coconut trees for about 1 km. The distances of the inner and outer Ao Thung Makham from Chumphon city centre are 27 kms. and 31 kms., respectively, using the same highways as going to Hat Sai Ri with directions shown along the way.

Ko Samet (เกาะเสม็ด) One of the group of islands which belongs to the Mu Ko Chumphon Nation Park. This island is at Mu 1 Tambon Pak Nam, about 8 kms. from Chumphon city. To get there, first, take a bus along Highway 4119 (Chumphon-Pak Nam) for about 17 kms. then from this place, take a boat from the shore for 30 minutes to get there. There are beaches at the head and the middle of this island. It is Chumphon's largest island and the end of a large well. This island is crowned with coconut trees making it a suitable place for spending holidays and relaxation.

The National Museum of Chumphon (พิพิธภัณฑสถานแห่งชาติชุมพร) Any trip to Chumphon should start at the national museum. Established in 1995 at Khao Samkaew, the museum provides an overview of the province, ranging from prehistory through to the present. Even for those who are not overly interested in history, the museum's attractive displays and media resources will fascinate and inform. The museum is divided into the ground floor and upper floor, and is opened for the public from Wednesday to Sunday during 9.00 a.m. - 4.00 p.m. For more information, please call Tel. 0 7750 4105, 0 7750 4246 or www.thailandmuseum.com

Khao Phang Forest Park (วนอุทยานเขาพัง) About 12 kms. south of the town, bordering Amphoe Mueang Chumphon and Amphoe Tha Sae, about km. 493 along Highway 4. Khao Phang Forest Park is one of the province's newest attractions. Within the forest park, there are a great variety of tropical trees, making the park a shady and restful sojourn for nature lovers and a must for students of forestry. A hill, covering an area of about 1 square kilometre, is located behind the park providing a commanding view of the entire area.

Wat Chaofa Sala Loi (วัดเจ้าฟ้าศาลาลอย) This temple is about 8 kms. from the town municipal area on the Chumphon-Ao Thung Wua Laen Road. To get there, travel along an asphalt road for 6 kms. and continue the journey along a laterite road for another 2 kms. At this temple lived Luangpho Song Chanthasaro, a famous religious teacher who passed away at the age of nearly 100 years and his body still remains undecayed. This monk is revered by the people in Chumphon and nearby provinces.

Ko Tao (เกาะเต่า) The island, though it is 45 kms. from Amphoe Ko Pha-ngan, Surat Thani province and is administratively under, can easily be reached from the coastline of Chumphon which is 60 kms. away. Historically, it was once a detention place for political prisoners similar to Ko Tarutao of Satun province. This small island with an area of only 20 square kilometre is a paradise for swimmers as well as for skin and scuba divers. It is well known as the best diving site in the Gulf of Thailand. Its turquoise water is crystalline, coconut plantations cover much of the landscape and concrete road are built along a few beaches. Getting around the island is either by pick-up taxi or by boat, and motorbikes or mountain bikes are available for rent to explore the island. Tourists or visitors wishing to stay overnight will not be disappointed from the various types and prices of accommodation the island has ready-to-offer.

From Hat Arunothai, boats can be hired to visit many off-shore islands.

The fishing village at Ban Ao Mamuang is located further on about 14 kms. A fascinating attainment, with a quiet and relaxing air affords it a vision of a typical fishing community. The lines of coconut trees forming the backdrop adds colour and life to the scene.

Tourist Attractions in Amphoe Tha Sae

Tham Rap Ro

Tham Rap Ro (Wat Thep Charoen) (ถ้ำรับร้อหรือวัดเทพเจริญ)

Located in Tambon Tha Kham about 15 kms. from the Pathomphon Intersection. This foothill temple cave actually consists of two adjacent caves, Ai Te and Sai, which are both, according to legend, purported to contain hidden treasure. Tham Ai Te houses an old Buddha image known affectionately as Luangpho Lak Mueang, or the town god's revered grandfather. The caves are further adorned with stunning stalagmites and stalactites. For more information, please call Tel. 0 7754 7056, 0 1892 5623.

Hin Chang Spirit House (ศาลเจ้าพ่อตาหินช้าง) Between kilometres 453 and 454 on the Phetchakasem Highway in Mu 2 Tambon Salui, a spirit house was installed to a revered god of the stone elephant image.

Tourist Attractions in Amphoe Sawi

Wat Tha Khuan Mueang (วัดท่าควนเมือง) Located about 2 kms. from the district office of Sawi or about 48 kms. from the provincial town of Chumphon along Highway No. 41. It is a fascinating temple perched on top of a limestone hill. Besides possessing a commanding view amid tranquil surroundings, the temple's stupa houses revered Buddha's relics.

Wat Phrathat Sawi (วัดพระธาตุสวี) This temple is near the Sawi River. It is 47 kms. from the city centre along Highway No. 41, Chumphon-Lang Suan route. According to legend, Phrachao Si Thammasokarat and his army took a rest in Sawi district and found a strange occurrence, that were, albino crows and other types of crows flocked together and cried above the debris from a ruined structured. The king, therefore, issued an order to remove the debris, After removing, they found a large pagoda. When they dug the ground deeper, they found a jar containing the Buddha's relics. So, the king had his men built a new pagoda over the old one. The construction could have taken place in the Ayutthaya Era. In 1916 repairs were done. A new structure was made over the old one. At the front of the temple next to the Sawi River stands a shrine where a human-size effigy is kept. People in Sawi District call this shrine "San Phra Suea Mueang".

Hat Sai Ri Sawi (หาดทรายรี สวี) It is the most beautiful beach in the district. It is in Mu 8, Tambon Tha Hin. It is a large sandy beach parallel to a long line of many coconut trees. This beach is good for relaxation and enjoying the atmosphere of the fishermen's lives. Tourists can get there easily by car, travelling along Highway No.41, Chumphon-Sawi route, turn left onto an asphalt road, Sawi-Bo Kha route and go on for about 6 kilometres, then, turn right onto a laterite road, and go on for 6 more kilometres.

Then, go along Khao Bip-Khao Thalu route for about 16 kilometres, turn left onto a laterite road and travel for 4 kilometres more until you arrive at Huai Kaeo Intersection. Then, turn left into a village road and travel for 6 kilometres more, you will be at Tham Thip Prida. The total distance from the city centre is 70 kilometres.

Tourist Attractions in Amphoe Pathio

Ko Khai (เกาะไข่) A small, mountainous island with a distance of 4 kms. from Hat Bo Mao, Ko Khai is surrounded with many short, attractive beaches. The island's beauty, however, lies below the surface of its crystal clear surrounding water and is encircled by colourful coral reefs teeming with fish and other marine life, which is counted as one of the best fishing places in the district.

Ao Yai Ai (อ่าวยายไฉ่) A 25 metres above sea-level viewpoint located just near the bay welcomes visitors with a panoramic view of the coast. The sheltered water of the bay front hosts a great variety of coral which stretches for a distance of about 7 kms. This sheltered water coral lines attract tourists for skin diving at all times.

Hat Thung Wua Laen (หาดทุ่งวัวแล่น) Located in Pathio District in Tambon Saphli, some 16 kilometres from the town's centre along the Chumphon-Hat Thung Wua Laen Road. Thung Wua Laen is perhaps Chumphon's most popular beach. Both native swimmers and experts will enjoy this beach, as its fine white sands slope gently into the sea. The southern end of the beach adjoins the foot of the mountain. One of Chumphon's premium dive sites. Sea fans, sea anemones, sponges and a tremendous variety of reef fish make the scenery below the surface of the water every bit as spectacular as the beach itself.

Ko Chorakhe (เกาะจระเข้) Although “Chorakhe” means “crocodile” in Thai, visitors to this charming respite some 11 kilometres off-shore from Thung Wua Laen Bay, need not worry as the island gets its namesake from its shape, not its inhabitants. It takes about 30 minutes to reach the island by boat, but visitors will be rewarded for their efforts with peace and serenity with two small beaches to choose from and excellent snorkelling conditions. Off-shore fishing is also reported to be good.

Ko Ngam Yai and Ko Ngam Noi (เกาะง่ามใหญ่และเกาะง่ามน้อย) This pair of adjacent islands is located 17 kilometres off the southern part of Thung Wua Laen Bay. It is known among locals for the swallow nests which are harvested there for export. Visitors, on the other hand, are drawn to the islands because of their fascinating rock formations, underwater caves, and spectacular coral reefs excellent for scuba diving.

Tourist Attractions in Amphoe Phato
